

'We Invite You to Confer, Get Involved'

"There is not a member of the administration who would not welcome the opportunity to meet and talk with individual students; enrollees should feel free to make an appointment to talk with me or any of the deans — our doors are always open," commented Dr. Robert P. Foster, Northwest Missouri State College president.

This is the tenet which Dr. Foster and other college administrators will follow throughout the school year.

Many things are visible in the "crystal ball" which Dr. Foster holds.

Highlighting the future of this new school year at MSC will be the establishment of a 100,000 watt FM educational radio station, which may possibly be granted to the college as early as January or February. New broadcasting facilities have been built as part of the remodeling in the Administration Building.

More student involvement in campus activities and projects is one of President Foster's goals for this year. "I hope more college students will be able to participate in the high school ambassador program," he noted.

The installation of recently purchased language laboratory equipment is foreseen in the near future. The equipment is the most modern available, the president commented.

Parking facilities at MSC have been somewhat of a problem in the past. A 100-car capacity addition will be opened at the west end of the parking area south of Phillips Hall.

"It's because of the caliber of students attending Northwest Missouri State College that our college has been able to obtain state and federal funds of a satisfactory amount. Our students are here to study and are not causing trouble," the president pointed out.

"I am proud," confided Dr. Foster, "to be president of this fast-growing college with its outstanding group of students, faculty, and staff members."

Student Participation Desired In College Senate Activities

Steve Schottel, MSC student president, is shown in the new Senate office, located near the Book Store area of the Union. Plans are being made to have the office manned each period of the college school day.

'Night-on-the-Town' Dance Set for Tomorrow Night

"Appreciation night and welcome back to students" is what Mr. Wayne Swanson, executive secretary of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce, calls it.

"A good time for all" is what Committee Chairman Robert Severson calls it.

What they are referring to is the annual "Night-on-the-Town" scheduled for 9 to 12 p. m. tomorrow night on the east side of the Maryville square. "The Stonehenge" will furnish the rock and soul sounds for this year's welcome back dance.

Mr. Severson explained the purpose of "Night-on-the-Town" as an opportunity to acquaint students with downtown Maryville and its merchants; but the major purpose is simply to say "Welcome Back!"

Refreshments will be served at two locations near the scene of the night's activities.

Welcome! On behalf of the Student Government Association I would like to welcome you to Northwest Missouri State College and wish you the best of luck in your academic progress and other encounters you may have at this institution.

As we approach the beginning of a new school year and contemplate the many challenges confronting student government, it becomes apparent that the need for effective student participation has never been greater. At a time when confidence must be instilled in the student government structure, it's essential that efforts emerge to bridge the gap in communication that often exists between the students, the student government, and the administration.

Sharing your interest in molding a student government system that is workable and responsive to the needs of its constituents, the Student Government Association, which is composed of each student, is endeavoring to foster a constructive pattern of student government. I feel that significant changes can and should be implemented through the actions of the students. Student wisdom has sparked meaningful progress in the realm of higher education.

I would enjoy knowing your ideas on all issues and programs. We would appreciate your visiting the new Senate office on the second floor of the Student Union. Best wishes during the coming year.

Sincerely,
Steve Schottel

President Foster Urges Students To Make This Year Memorable

Welcome to the campus of Northwest Missouri State College and to what I think will be one of the great years in the history of this fine institution. I am very optimistic about the prospects of the coming year, and I think that you, as students have a vital role to play in the upcoming year.

Many changes have taken place on the campus since last May, and I hope that you find that these changes have not only improved the physical appearance of the campus but will result in a better program for you during the year.

One of the outstanding changes that has taken place on this campus has been the addition of 43 new teaching positions on the faculty and several new and important positions in the administrative staff. As many of you know, much time and energy was spent during the past year in contacting people to bring to this campus and in interviewing them for newly created positions on the faculty and administrative staff. We have brought here several individuals who have achieved national recognition and who certainly lend stature to this institution.

I believe the ranking of the faculty is matched only to the high academic ranking of our student body. The addition of these faculty members to an already excellent staff should do much to enhance the effectiveness of the new year.

I hope that you will find that your work will be challenging, exciting, and satisfying in the weeks that lie ahead. I am of the opinion that the new programs that we are bringing to this campus supported by the new instructional equipment which we now have available will have a very definite impact on the student body.

You have heard me say many times that I think that it is a privilege to serve this institution as its President. I want to reaffirm this belief and assure you that I accept the responsibility of this position with enthusiasm and eagerness.

I am convinced that this year will prove to be one of the most productive years that I have spent with Northwest Missouri State College. I hope that you, as a student, share this pride with me and that you will do all that you can to improve the image of this institution and work to develop a campus spirit that is truly outstanding.

I wish also to reiterate that I personally believe that we are fortunate to have an outstanding faculty and administrative staff, but we are more fortunate to have a student body that is very much above average and that is outstanding in its potential. My sincere wish is that this year will be the most memorable in your life and that you will help to make it one of the greatest in the history of the college.

Speak Up Via Missourian

Again the time has come to greet fondly the returning student and say hello to the new freshman and transfer student. Welcome to MSC, 1969!

College is a society of busy, inquisitive, and imaginative people. It is a society with its own government, its own entertainment, its own problems, and its own newspaper.

We hope you will find that the Missourian is indeed your own newspaper. Published every Friday morning, except during vacations or examination weeks, it will bring to you current news of college interest, lighthearted treasures of the Stroller, the colorful world of sports and stimulating, often times controversial, editorials.

Let our newspaper be your spokesman. All letters to the editor will be accepted and evaluated by the editorial board. Although they must be signed to be accepted, names will be withheld if requested. Want ads are published at the minimal price of 90 cents per column inch. Guest editorials are encouraged.

MSC 1969 promises to be a challenging year. The editors, staff members, and reporters of the Missourian hope to meet this challenge by making your paper one that you will want to become actively involved with!

Gray Matter vs. Tan Flesh

To satirize buttons, bows, frills, or even clothing in general today would be a useless, if not senseless, task because they are almost extinct. Certainly in the Elizabethan age this would not have been the case.

Queen Elizabeth owned about 1,000 pairs of gloves, some trimmed with precious jewels. In her day emphasis on appearance was placed on the richness and style of clothing. Today it is on the absence of clothing.

Human beings are individual characters guided primarily by logic and reason—not by appearance and lust as is an animal. Modern Americans are emphasizing as a guideline for judgment of individuals the closest thing we have in common, our structure.

Through the ages men and women have changed their values as far as the accepted beauty of the human being is concerned. What is beauty? The "beautiful women" painted by famous men easily prove that there has been a change in attitude somewhere in the past. Bodies can only attract the eye and other bodies, not minds.

Men do not watch gray matter walk by, it is true; but they assume that there is an ample supply hidden somewhere. However, men are often disappointed. Men "tell it like it is." If women want to make a lasting impression, they have to show something that is new, lasting, something that man is searching for—not just body and flesh.

No one woman has a patent on good looks or figure, but each is different in personality and wit. No matter what the size, shape, or color, good mannerisms, habits, wit, sense of humor, and compatibility are the hard-to-find characteristics in women. The true differentiations in appearance that show character are cleanliness and neatness—not bareness and expensive high gloss.

Men are curious creatures; they are many times just as much interested in a woman wearing a floor length dress as an above-the-knee style. One's imagination can add much color to the surface beauty.

There is a limit to nude fashions. Before it is reached, maybe we should stop to consider why man has come a long way from the fig leaf . . . or has he?

Does Our Freedom Ring?

Is freedom really free?

There is much talk about our commitment to the people of Vietnam. Many say that it is only because of the United States troops in that war torn country that the Communists are not in complete control.

This may be true. At the same time I contend that our very commitment to the Vietnamese limits the freedom of our own people.

What teenage youth really feels free when the draft looms before him? What college graduate is free to exercise his free choice in regard to his vocation? How can a young married couple freely live their marriage vows and plan their family when the threat of service in active combat is either present as a probability or as a reality?

While we parade before the rest of the world as an example of a free nation, let us not make a mockery of freedom. Before we set ourselves up as a shining example, why not let our young men freely decide whether they desire a career in the armed forces or not?

We need to make freedom really free right here in the United States before we commit ourselves to insuring the freedom of other nations.

Ambassador Relaxes In Climate of Aegean

Kavala, Greece

Greetings from Greece! I hope your summer has been as nice as mine has. I am learning a great deal by living and traveling in this ancient land.

My family is very warm and eager to discuss current topics with me and, fortunately, they are practically fluent in English. I had two weeks of Greek language prior to departure for Europe, which equipped me with "survival" Greek ("I am lost." . . . "Where is the hotel, please?"). But this is definitely not useful for political discussions.

My Greek father is employed by R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., my mother is a housewife and an excellent cook, and I have two brothers, aged 19 and 16.

Tobacco is a major crop of the Kavala area and a major industry of the city. Kavala itself has a population of 45,000 and is a modern town with much building taking place, but it still has miles of dusty, crooked cobblestone streets that give small Greek cities a unique charm.

The Greek life, as dictated by the hot, dry climate, is very relaxed and relaxing. We spend several hours a day on the beach by the blue Aegean, and no afternoon is complete without a two-hour siesta.

I only hope I can bring enough of Greece and the Greeks home with me in my slides and memory to be of interest at NWMSC.

Yasoo!

Ambassador Winter Views Investiture Of Prince of Wales

People of NWMSC:

Your Ambassador to Great Britain was fortunate this summer in that he spent 51 full days and nights crammed with an immeasurable amount of activity. Every day brought something new and exciting to come to grips with.

I was lucky to be of sound body and not-so-sound mind so as to survive each episode, for some of my exploits were entirely insane. The time did not allow for everything to be absorbed properly, but here are a few of what you would call "highlights."

The flight to Brussels was strange because we spent an 18-hour day. Our group train-ferry-trained to London. Then we bussed to Manchester. There two of us caught a train for Southport on the northwest coast of England, where we spent our homestay.

The two of us were taken by an Experiment "mother" to Wales for three days, during which time we attended the Investiture of the Prince of Wales. (Princes Philip and Charles are much more impressive than the rest of the Royal Family.) After Wales we were given the courtesy of The Royal Birkdale Golf Course (where the Ryder Cup is contested) and visited various points of interest near Southport.

The whole group was scattered over an area 100 miles wide (a long distance in England), but we got together on a day-trip to the Lake District and on our 10-day informal, hostelling tour through North Wales. After visiting Liverpool a few times and Sheffield, we ended our four weeks' homestay and travelled to London for four days-nights (they all ran together after a while).

I returned to the USA on Aug. 10. Of course this is only a sketchy outline of the trip. I look forward to conveying more of my experiment to you in the future.

Miss Hardy Views U. S. Moon Shot Via TV, Denmark

Reporting to MSC:

Fourteen days of intensive language training, a 10-mile endurance hike, and lengthy orientation sessions marked the beginning of my adventure in international living.

I lived with Pastor and Mrs. Villy Andersen and their son Bo in Ikarup, a small Danish town of about 1,100 people. Both of my Danish parents spoke English fairly well so there was no great communication problem.

The Danes enjoy eating, and my family was no exception. The one food which we most often was boiled potatoes covered with thick brown gravy. Smorrebrod (open face sandwiches) was also served often, and on special occasions was accompanied by a glass of snaps. The Danes are great coffee drinkers and the afternoon and evening coffee was served with the famous Danish pastry.

While in Denmark, my family and I watched the American moon shot on television. The Danes pay about $50 a year to watch TV with no commercials — twice as much to watch color TV.

Regarding the lunar landing, my Danish father commented that it was quite a "propaganda stunt," but added that most Danes are really backing the U. S. in their space efforts.

In July my family helped me celebrate my 21st birthday. We had the traditional birthday chocolate with Danish pastry. And as is the custom when a

MSC Ag Club to Sponsor Third Annual Horse Show

Stan Wright, Union Board president, scans pictures of entertainers who have headlined Board programs in past years.

Union Board Schedules Numerous Fall Events

Students attending college this fall will have the opportunity to attend a varied schedule of events sponsored by the Union Board.

The back-to-school dance will be at 8 p. m. Saturday in Lamkin Gymnasium. "The Rumbles" will provide the evening's rock sounds.

Students will have an opportunity to get acquainted with various organizations beginning at 7:30 p. m. Sept. 17,

Students Can Get College Credit For Air Lessons

College credit for taking flight instruction is now an approved part of the MSC curriculum.

In cooperation with Aviation Services at Maryville's Municipal Airport, the college is offering a fall course in ground school instruction and 10 hours of dual or solo flight instruction.

Those interested in taking the two-hour course, Physical Science 17, are asked to meet at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday, Sept. 16, in the Horace Mann Auditorium. Registration will be completed at this initial session. The class will meet one night a week for 10 weeks. Each session will last about three hours.

Mr. Robert Bush, director of admissions at MSC, has stated that the course is designed to prepare enrollees to pass the required FAA written test and to learn to solo. It will not result in a license to fly, he said.

Cost of the course will depend upon the type of airplane a student wishes to learn to fly. It should range between $100 and $150. Flying lessons with Aviation Services can be scheduled at the students' convenience. Mr. Bush said. The lessons can be taken in Champions, Air Coupe, or Cherokee type airplanes.

People wishing more information should contact Mr. Bush in the dean of administration's office.

when the Organizational Fair is held in the Ballroom of the J. W. Jones Union.

Guest lecturers will be on campus from time to time throughout the year. The first visit will be made by Dr. Albert Hibbs, Sept. 22. Dr. Hibbs directed the creation of the television cameras which sent back the first close-up pictures of the moon and neighboring planets.

The Union Board also sponsors Den movies. This fall all movies are scheduled to start at 7:30 p. m. in the Horace Mann Auditorium. The first movie, "Inside Daisey Clover," will be presented Sept. 19. "Any student can join Union Board and have a voice in selecting concert and dance groups, speakers, films, exhibits, Den movies, or any new and different activity," stressed Stan Wright, Union Board president.

Information about joining Union Board can be obtained from Wright's office in the Union.

Fun and excitement await those who attend the Ag Club's third annual horse show Sept. 28 at the old Fair Grounds behind Zipp's Cafe at the east edge of Maryville on Highway 46.

In conjunction with the horse show, a queen contest will be featured. This year the candidates must be single women between the ages of 16 and 22. Each entrant must have a sponsor, either a campus organization, a business firm, or an individual farmer or rancher. Any young woman meeting the qualifications, except daughters of judges or agriculture faculty members, may compete for the royal title.

Preliminary Judging

Candidates must appear before the judges at 7:30 p. m. Sept. 27, in Room 222 of the Administration Building for preliminary judging. The contestants must attend this judging or they will automatically be disqualified.

"At this evening appearance each candidate is asked to wear casual clothes — not western wear. She will be judged on personality and appearance," explained Mike Monk, queen contest chairman.

On the show date each candidate must appear in western wear and ride in the grand entry. After the opening event, the three runners-up will receive plaques. The queen will receive a large trophy and a dozen red roses.

As queen, she will also be invited to all Ag Club activities, and will be an honor guest at the club's spring banquet. In addition, the Ag Club will be her sponsor in any contests held during the year.

All entrants must have their application forms submitted to Monk or Mr. F. B. Houghton, assistant professor of agriculture and MSC Ag Club sponsor, by Sept. 20. Application forms may be obtained from either of these people.

Last year 17 girls entered the queen competition. Miss Sara Howell, Union Star, was chosen queen.

Horse Show Competition

Horse show events include competition in men and women's pleasure class, two saddle pony classes, calf roping, keg bending, cloverleaf barrel race, diaper race, wild cow milking, goat dressing, musical chairs, and reining class. This year, a cutting class has also been added to the list of events.

"All entrants assume responsibility for any accidents. The Ag Club will not be held responsible," Monk stressed.

Horses can be ridden only once in any event; that is two people cannot enter the same horse in the same event.

Saddle clubs are invited to participate in this annual horse show. They will compete for awards in three classes — best dressed, farthest traveled, and largest.

The rain date for this third annual horse show is Oct. 5.

A 50 cent admittance fee will be charged. Students with I. D. cards will be admitted for 25 cents; children under 12, free.

Any further information about the queen contest and horse show can be obtained from Mr. Houghton or Monk.

Professional Outreach

Dr. Robert P. Foster, MSC president, has been re-elected by the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America to serve as a Member at Large for the 1969-70 year.

This summer he was director of Camp Colin H. Livingstone at Farragut State Park, Ida., during the seventh National Boy Scout Jamboree. As director, Dr. Foster supervised the activities of 1,700 Scouts with the aid of a 58-man staff.

Miss Mabel Cook, chairman of the department of home economics, and Miss Frances Shipley, instructor, represented MSC Aug. 11-14 at the Missouri Vocational Home Economics Teachers Conference in Jefferson City.

Miss Marie Huff, state director of home economics education, was leader of the conference which was centered on the theme "Consumer Education: The Educators' Challenge."

Construction Starts On 7-Story Halls

Miss Louann Lewright started her new duties Aug. 1 in a new dean of women's office in the former Field Service Office.

Mr. Robert Henry began his work as director of MSC sports news and publicity last month. His office is on the first floor of the Administration Building.

New Dean of Women Hired To Succeed Miss Licklider

Miss Louann Lewright, who succeeds Miss Karen Licklider as dean of women, has returned to her native state.

Miss Lewright, comes to the MSC campus from Radford, Va., where she held the position of assistant dean of students at Radford College. Prior to that, Miss Lewright had been a personnel assistant at Christian College, Columbia.

After completion of her high school training in St. Louis, Miss Lewright attended the University of Tulsa, where she majored in psychology. Her work at Christian College resulted in the completion of work for a degree in counseling at the University of Missouri.

Approves 'Open Housing'

When questioned about her new position at MSC, Miss Lewright remarked that the work is "interesting and very challenging." As far as any changes for the immediate future are concerned, she has no plans in mind.

Miss Lewright is enthusiastic about the open housing program for upper class women. Freshmen, she thinks, need guidance through their first year in college although they don't "need to be watched," she added.

The new dean of women enjoys being outdoors. Her hobbies are golfing and hiking, and she also enjoys reading.

Tells of Radford Raid

While comparing the town of Radford and Maryville, Miss Lewright commented that Maryville has a much larger shopping area and there seems to be more to do here. "To top it all, Maryville has three movie theaters while Radford has only one!"

During the interview, the subject of dorm raids was also brought up. The Virginians at Radford College, it seems, have a unique way of handling these raids. About 15 miles away from the all girls' school is a boys' school. During a raid the boys pile into cars and head toward Radford, their minds bent on one thing — "Raid the girls' dorms!"

Somehow the girls find out in advance of the surprise visit and are always ready for them, Miss Lewright chuckled. They dress and head to the lounge or rec room, where cokes and cookies are ready to serve. The dormitory doors are thrown open and the raiders welcomed enthusiastically!

Miss Lewright, an extremely pleasant woman, easy to know and talk to, is looking forward to getting better acquainted with the MSC coeds and their various activities.

Former Wichita U. Professor Directs Publicity Program

The sports news and publicity department at Northwest Missouri State College has acquired a new supervisor, Mr. Robert M. Henry, former assistant professor of journalism, Wichita State University, Wichita, Kan.

Why would an assistant professor turn to sports and publicity? The answer to this question leads to Mr. Henry's professional and educational background. He received a bachelor of arts degree in 1961 from Peru State College, Neb.; a master of science in journalism, 1968, University of Kansas, Lawrence. He did graduate work in history, 1959-1960, at the University of Kentucky, Lexington. He was graduated from high school in 1951 at Minneapolis, Kan.

Formerly at Peru, Neb.

Last year Mr. Henry taught at Wichita U. During the years 1960-1968, he held the position of sports information director and assistant director, special services at Peru State College.

Reverting to the question of why an assistant professor of journalism changed positions, Mr. Henry commented that classroom work is not as exciting as sports information and publicity work.

His job at MSC includes a combination of many activities and responsibilities. The main duty of the director of public information is to tell the story of this college to people of the state, to tell them where their taxes go. MSC is a public institution and since the people are paying most of the bills (through taxes) they have the right to know what is going on in the institution. The hoped-for benefits, according to Mr. Henry, will be an arousing of interest in MSC — student-wise.

Likes Historical Reading

In his spare time Mr. Henry enjoys watching television. He is an avid sports fan, and it isn't hard for him to keep his eyes glued to the TV when there is a football game on. He enjoys reading historical material. His favorite pastime, he says with a humorous twinkle in his eye, is eating!

After coming to Maryville Aug. 1, Mr. Henry spent a few days at the boys' dorm since the house he had bought was still occupied. He took refuge at Phillips Hall, where he lived on fifth floor.

The boys were great, he said. But how did he feel about living in a dorm? Mr. Henry, a father of two young children, promptly replied, "I'm glad I have a family."

Construction started Aug. 18 on two seven-story residence halls at Northwest Missouri State College, following go ahead approval by the Fort Worth Regional Office of the Federal Housing Authority.

Total cost of the twin dormitories, which will be almost identical to Phillips Hall and Franken Hall, will be $3,400,000. The buildings will provide housing for 620 students.

President Robert P. Foster said that a target date for completion of the residence halls has been set for Sept. 1, 1970. Present plans call for one to be a men's residence hall and the other to house women.

SNEA Ranks Open To Future Teachers

Prospective teachers on campus are invited to join the Student National Education Association, a professional organization for both elementary and secondary education majors.

Northwest Missouri State College's John Dewey Chapter is planning several special features for the new school year. Representation at the State Teachers' Association convention in St. Louis Nov. 6 and 7 headlines the activities. A district conference for high school FTA clubs and college SNEA chapters in Northwest Missouri and Southwest Iowa will be held on the MSC campus Apr. 23.

To be an active member in SNEA, a student should attend at least half of the regular meetings, participate in one conference or special meeting, and help with at least one project. Regular meetings are held from 7 to 8 p. m. the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month in the Upper Lakeview Room of the Union Building.

Annual dues are $4, which includes subscriptions to "Today's Education," "Impact," and "School and Community," the official publication of the Missouri State Teachers Association.

Summer . . . Time of Excitement, Fears, Challenges

Summer vacation meant times of significance, new experiences, moments of excitement, and hours of trying endurance for some Northwest State students and faculty members.

For Dr. Julius E. Schulz survival in a near tragic farm accident was a matter of self-determination, grit, and endurance.

After being pinned in a ditch beneath his overturned tractor for five days, he finally dug himself free, crawled a quarter of a mile to his car and was able to get greatly needed medical aid. Twelve broken ribs, near drowning from the rain, tractor gasoline in the ditch water, fruitless calls for help were trials Dr. Schulz faced.

Hurricane Camille cut in half six students' study time at Gulf Coast Research Laboratory. Coeds Paulette Medsker and Sherry Boyer moved inland as the storm approached.

Don Van Sickle, along with his wife and children, Jerome Trout, Dennis Reichenbacher, and Gary Lee Johnson braved Camille's fury in their Ocean Springs living quarters. All MSC students and their quarters came out undamaged, but several of the nearby Research Laboratory buildings were demolished.

Three personable coeds gained new honors in summer competition.

As Miss Iowa, Jacqueline Lee Jochims, a senior from Carroll, has represented her state at many functions. Next May she will compete in the Miss USA contest.

Rebecca Nelson, a sophomore from Lake View, Iowa, received the Miss Congeniality title in the Miss Missouri contest. She competed in the state events as Miss Maryville, a title she won here last spring.

Linda Noel, '69, became Miss

Rodeo Missouri at the state event in Joplin. In November she will enter the Miss Rodeo America Pageant at Las Vegas.

For 67 friends, alumni, and staff of MSC the interim vacation was a vivid living lesson in Old World history and geography.

The group participated in the college sponsored two-week trip to England. They scattered widely on their on-their-own weekend. The Everett Browns, the Randy Wolcotts, the Bob Cotters, the Charles Gillises, and Dan Redmond went to Ireland and Scotland; Dr. Irene Mueller and Miss Vida Dunbar, to Scotland; others viewed sights in France and Switzerland.

So popular was the tour that a list of would-be participants had to remain on the waiting line.

Dr. Mothershead Earns Ph D

Dr. Harmon R. Mothershead, assistant professor of history, received the degree doctor of philosophy, history Aug. 16 at the University of Colorado, Boulder.

Topic of Dr. Mothershead's thesis was "The Swan Land and Cattle Co., Ltd.," a narrative history of a Scottish cattle company with land in Wyoming.

A native of Missouri, Dr. Mothershead completed his B. S. in Ed. degree at MSC in 1953. He earned his MA at the University of Colorado in 1959.

Before joining the Northwest State faculty in 1965, he taught history for 10 years in the Lakewood, Colo., public schools.

Besides teaching history classes, Dr. Mothershead instructs students enrolled in methods of teaching history.

New Director—Man of Many Interests

Summer session students learned that MSC's new Union director, Mr. Marvin B. Silliman, is a champion track man, an avid angler, and a golfer.

A man of many other interests, he stated that of primary concern to him is finding ways to offer students on this campus varied activities to complement their classroom experiences. Student involvement in planning such activities is another of his goals.

Mr. Silliman, an Illinois State champion in the mile and cross country, has a bachelor's degree in philosophy and religion, a Master of Divinity degree, and a Master of Education degree. He has served as a church minister, a campus minister, and an assistant director of student activities at Southern Illinois University, Carbondale.

Alumni Activities

Dr. Justyn L. Graham, '51, was an assistant professor of education and program director for the Job Corps Teachers Training Institutes held this summer on the Central Missouri State College campus, Warrensburg.

He is the son of Mrs. Avis Graham, an instructor in the Horace Mann Laboratory School.

Miss Janice Lea Wilkes, '69, has been accepted for graduate study at Indiana University Library School, Bloomington.

At MSC she was assistant editor of the 1969 Tower. She has a major in English and a minor in library science. She served as vice president of Alpha Beta Alpha library science fraternity and president of Delta Zeta social sorority.

Miss Rose Ann Butcher, '69, was administered the oath of enlistment in the United States Air Force July 25. She was selected to attend the officers' training school at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Tex.

Upon graduation from OTS she will attend a personnel management school at Lowry AFB, Denver, Colo.

Alverado Kysar, '54, was recently promoted to Lieutenant Colonel at Ft. Leonard Wood, where he is chief of training for plans and operations (G-3).

His medals and decorations include the Army Commendation Medal with V-Device and two clusters, the Vietnamese Cross of Gallantry with a Silver Star, the Air Medal with V-Device and 15 clusters, the Soldiers Medal, the Distinguished Flying Cross, and the Bronze Star.

The second week of my Experiment included an informal trip covering the larger cities in Denmark. One of the highlights of the trip was in the city of Rebild, where the Danish celebration of our Independence Day was held.

My American group, consisting of 10 coeds and a group leader, also visited a Danish folk high school. Such schools have great freedom regarding curriculum; no entrance conditions are imposed, and no examinations are held upon conclusion of courses.

A four-day city stay in Copenhagen, where time was spent touring the city, shopping on the walking street, and visiting the Tivoli, concluded a wonderful summer.

3-, 4-Year Olds Begin Schooling

Twenty-five 3- and 4-year olds will begin their first school training today at the Child Development Laboratory under the direction of the home economics department of MSC.

Miss Peggy Miller has been appointed teacher at the laboratory school for the year. She was graduated in May from MSC, with a B. S. degree in education, majoring in home economics. She did graduate work in child development at the University of Missouri this summer.

The benefits of the school are three-fold: to working mothers, to their children, and to the college. Home economics majors will be able to learn through observation and experience, but without the children's awareness of the observation.

The observing students will study the physical and mental development of the young children.

Dr. Burton Richey has stepped aside as head baseball coach at MSC, with the hiring of Mr. John Barnes. Dr. Richey will now be able to devote full time to being chairman of the Division of Health and Physical Education.

The Nodaway County Red Cross adult swim class had the largest enrollment ever at the Maryville pool this summer. In this division, 115 enrolled. MSC swim coach Lewis Dyche was the water safety trainer. Norma Appleman, '70, and Linda Wiles, '73, were two of Coach Dyche's assistants.

Dick Schilling, '69, used his tennis playing ability to catapult into stardom again this summer as he captured the men's singles championship in the annual August St. Joseph Tennis Tournament.

Judy Burt, Kathie Maschke, Pat Nold, and Wesley Whaley found joy and earned money during summer hours by directing youth recreation programs as fulfillment of their field experience in recreation (P. E. 125) class.

Miss Burt, Miss Maschke, and Whaley worked in Maryville. Miss Nold assisted with the St. Joseph activity program.

Summer recreation activities also claimed the attention of student body vice president Vic Jenkins. He was a coach in Little League ball for Maryville boys.

'68 Memory to Spur 'Cat Gridders

Ivan Schottel, MSC's head grid coach, has every right to expect a better season from his 'Cat squad than it produced in the 1968 season.

Schottel and his '68 gridders suffered through an agonizing campaign, going winless in nine starts. When Schottel looks ahead to 1969's nine game slate, it is understandable why he reserves judgment to a degree.

Assessing the 1969 MIAA race, Coach Schottel feels that Southeast Missouri State and Central Missouri State will again fight for the top spot, with Northeast Missouri close behind.

The non-conference slate is a tough one for the Bearcats. William Jewell, which has lost only one contest in two years, will be the 'Cats' opponent in their '69 debut, Sept. 20 at Maryville. Fort Hays State will be as strong as last season with a new coach and some good junior college transfers. Lincoln University, soon to be inducted into the MIAA, will throw its players' lightning fast speed at the 'Cats for the first time. Kearney State of Nebraska is the perennial Nebraska College Conference Champion.

The Bearcat coach feels this year's sophomore and junior laden team offers a great opportunity for two reasons. First, he theorizes that young teams are often hungrier for victory than those squads laced with experienced players.

Second, he said, "We played a number of teams very close last year. Now our players have another year of maturity, poise, and experience." Asked about a won-loss prediction, Coach Schottel only said, "It depends on how bad our team wants to win."

Coach Schottel's guarded optimism is based on the fact that 28 lettermen return to the 1969 fold. Offensively, the Bearcats lost only two starters from 1968. They were tight end Leon

Mr. George Worley, new assistant football coach, Steve Schottel and Dave Rabori, co-captains, and Mr. Ivan Schottel, head grid coach, discuss prospects for the coming Bearcat football season.

Muff, Crete, Neb., and left guard Tony Novak, Kansas City. The vacancy at tight end may be filled by Brad Willrich (6-3, 200, Sr.), Dexter, Iowa last year's starting fullback and leading ground gainer with 235 yards in 76 carries.

The loss of Novak at offensive left guard will be softened by the return of Derrick McCord, (6-0, 210, Sr.), Kansas City, who started the first three games last year at defensive end until an injury shelved him for the season. McCord may be shifted to the guard position.

Defensively, the Bearcats lost two middle linebackers, a middle guard, a cornerback, and a left end. The '69 defenders will be young, perhaps with only three seniors in the starting lineup. Those veterans include Dave Rebori (5-10, 180), Kansas City, safety; Mike Beach (6-0, 190), Kansas City, cornerback, and Ken Timke (6-4, 175), Beatrice, Neb., left tackle.

Limited AC Current Effects Lighter Work

People working in the Administration Building during the recent interim vacation had abbreviated work hours while an electricity transformer change was being effected.

Working without overhead lights and air-conditioning was not conducive to adding overtime to the labor records.

Experienced Coaches Join College Staff

Two additions to the coaching staff, Mr. John Barnes, head baseball coach, and Mr. George Worley, assistant football and assistant baseball coach, have come to Northwest Missouri State College with outstanding experience records in sports.

Mr. Worley started his duties Aug. 27 as he assisted head football coach Ivan Schottel at the first football workouts in preparation for a nine-game schedule.

Mr. Barnes, who will succeed Dr. Burton Richey as head baseball coach, has an impressive history of baseball experience. A three-year letterman in baseball, he pitched for the 1962 NCAA District 7 champions his sophomore year. Suffers Injuries

In his junior year, Mr. Barnes recorded a 5-1 record with a 1.30 earned run average and was named to the All-Rocky Mountain Conference team. Injuries prevented Mr. Barnes from playing baseball during his senior year at Colorado State College, Greeley.

In 1964, Mr. Barnes coached the Denver American Legion baseball team to the state championship.

He was graduated from Colorado State College in 1964. Mr. Barnes received his master's from the same institution in 1965.

Mr. Worley resigned his position as head football coach at Atchison (Kan.) County Community High School, where he compiled a record of 50 wins, 28 losses, and five ties. He played on both high school and college teams which were coached by Coach Schottel at Atchison High School and at St. Benedict's College. Mr. Worley was an All-State tackle at Atchison High School.

Former Marine

After discharge from the Marine Corps, Mr. Worley attended St. Benedict's College. He was chosen outstanding football lineman of the year in the Central Intercollegiate Conference during his senior year and was named to the All-CIC football team for three years. Also as a senior, Mr. Worley made the Catholic College All-America team, the NAIA All-America and Associated Press small college All-America teams.

He was graduated from St. Benedict's in 1958, and coached in the Kansas High Schools of Wamego and Effingham. In the summer of 1968 Mr. Worley received his master's degree from Kansas State University.

Both men will also be instructors in the physical education department.
